

businesscompanion

trading standards law explained

Using this guidance

In this section

Scope

What do you need to do?

What happens if I don't comply with the law?

Where can I get further advice?

About this guide

Scope

1.1

This guidance is intended to help you, as a second-hand car dealer, to comply with important pieces of consumer protection law that affect how you deal with consumers, including:

- the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008 (CPRs), which ensure that you deal with consumers fairly and honestly
- the Consumer Rights Act 2015 (CRA), which sets out your legal obligations to consumers with regard to the quality of the vehicle and the description you give of it. It also sets out your duties when something goes wrong with the vehicle
- the Consumer Contracts (Information, Cancellation and Additional Charges) Regulations 2013 (CCRs), which sets out the information that a trader must give to a consumer before and after making a sale, how that information should be given, and the right for consumers to change their minds when buying at a distance or off-premises

1.2

The guidance is in five parts. Part A contains guidance on how to comply with the CPRs, including a flowchart to help you assess whether any of your business practices are likely to be unfair. Part B contains guidance on your legal obligations to consumers under the CRA, including a flowchart summarising the legal remedies consumers are entitled to where the vehicles you sell are not of 'satisfactory quality'. For those car dealers who also service cars there is a short explanation of the requirements of the CRA in relation to service contracts. Part C contains guidance on your legal obligations to consumers under CCRs, summarising in particular pre-contract information requirements. Part D briefly looks at the law on 'Alternative Dispute Resolution' (ADR). Part E sets out details on pricing and payment provisions.

1.3

The guidance not only applies to the selling of second-hand cars but also other vehicles (such as second-hand motorcycles and light commercial vehicles) when you make a sale to a consumer. By 'second-hand' we mean any vehicle with a previous user.

1.4

Not all points listed will apply to every dealer, nor is the guidance intended to be exhaustive. It is based on the experience of enforcers, industry, consumer groups and other stakeholders of problems in the second-hand car market.

1.5

This guidance is not a substitute for the law itself nor does it replace the role of a court which is to provide a definitive interpretation of the law. However, the guidance is intended to help you to comply with the law and protect your business's reputation.

1.6

This guidance is also intended to be of use to enforcers and to consumer advisors in understanding what trading practices are likely to be prohibited.

1.7

There is other important legislation which may apply to you, which is not covered in this guidance.

For example, this guidance does not deal with business-to-business trade sales, which are covered by other law - for example, BPRs. Also, if you sell vehicles on finance, consumer credit legislation applies. The primary regulator of consumer credit, the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), has information for sellers on its website: www.fca.org.uk

What do you need to do?

1.8

It is important that you read and understand the guidance to make sure you are treating your customers properly.

What happens if I don't comply with the law?

1.9

If you do not comply with the law you may face enforcement action by Trading Standards or other bodies. This could ultimately result in court action and it would be for the courts to decide if legislation has been breached. You could also lose your customers, some of whom may have the right to take legal action against you.

Where can I get further advice?

1.10

This guidance does not provide legal or other advice and, if in doubt as to your obligations, you are strongly recommended to obtain advice from your local authority Trading Standards service (postcode search website below) and/or seek independent legal advice.

www.tradingstandards.uk/consumers

1.11

Business Companion is a Government-supported website that provides information for businesses and individuals who need to know about trading standards and consumer protection legislation.

www.businesscompanion.info

The Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) publish guidance on the application of their Advertising Codes.

www.asa.org.uk

About this guide

1.12

This guide has been developed by Trading Standards professionals from across the United Kingdom, including members of the Chartered Trading Standards Institute and representatives of the Society of Chief Officers of Trading Standards in Scotland (SCOTSS).

www.tradingstandards.uk

www.scotss.org

> Part A: Complying with the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008 (CPRs)

© 2026 Chartered Trading Standards Institute

Source URL:

<https://businesscompanion.owastaging.co.uk/focus/car-traders-and-consumer-law/using-guidance>